Dedication

This Annual is respectfully dedicated to the memory of Miss Isobel A. Thomas, our esteemed teacher, who so competently guided the Junior Red Cross for many years.

Foreword

"Palma Non Sine Pulvere"
(No reward without effort)

In addressing the Graduating Class of 1950, I wish to remind you of the implications of the school motto which you have read so often as you gazed at the arch above the Auditorium stage. The Latin words carry us back in fancy to the Roman Chariot Race where victory was achieved only after mighty effort. That the successful conquest of difficulties is the path to progress is equally true today as it was in Ancient Rome. It follows logically, therefore, that the events and incidents which will confront you are of minor significance in comparison with the courage and determination which you will reveal in meeting them.

Valedictory

THIS YEAR, we the graduating class of 1949-1950 have realized the ultimate goal we set for ourselves when we first entered these halls of learning. At that time, looking into the future, it seemed so far away. But now, reflecting back to all the good times we have had, the lasting friendships we have made with both fellow students and teachers, and how Victoria High steadily became so much a part of us, it all seems like only yesterday.

Now, the time has come for graduation, when we will utilize not only our academic knowledge but the moral and physical standards that have been inspired in us by our teachers. It is a time when we must begin a new life, an adult life, in a world so unsettled by strife, suspicion and hatred between nations. It is our duty, therefore, as future citizens, to strive to make our community, our country, and ultimately our world, a better place in which to live. So we will hitch our wagon to a star, strive for the unattainable, but above all endeavor to leave this world knowing that we have been an indispensable spoke in the wheel of Mankind. In that way we can prove to ourselves that what we have been taught was not in vain.

Now, on behalf of the grads of 1950, I want to express heartfelt thanks to the teachers for the guidance, understanding and patience shown to us during the last four years in which we have matured into young men and women. And it is with fond regret that we say goodbye to Victoria High School. But in our hearts, wherever we may venture in the years to come, there will always be a soft spot, and pleasant memories will keep forever alive; the days in which we spent the best years of our life.

Camosunet

Once more the student newspaper—Camosunet—has come to the end of a successful year's publishing. The paper—during 1949-1950—was turned out mostly by two Journalism classes under the direction of Mr. S. Murphy together with Co-Editors Shirley Smith and Hugh Curtis.

The most noticeable change this year, without a doubt, has been the larger size. Each issue was a "six-pager" which together with two or three pictures in each issue made for a more interesting publication.

Through the Camosunet, much advance publicity was given to school projects, some of which were: Circus, school dances, Spring Concert, Spring Play, and sports events. While on the subject of sporting news, this year's newspaper staff put forth much effort to enlarge the coverage of athletics. In every issue the back page was taken up almost entirely by such news.

Other features well received were: Fashion columns—very capably written by two matric girls, and the ever popular "Birthday Briefs" article. Personalities, Teacher Interviews, and the Hit-Parade appeared to please the student body.

Although this was the thirteenth year of publication under the name of "Camosunet" no bad luck seemed to "dog" the editorial staff. Right now the paper rests in a good financial status, credit for this due to Heather MacGillivray and her team of hard-working hucksters who braved foul weather and fair to coax local merchants to give advertisements in the school sheet.

No report concerning the Camosunet would be complete without sincerely thanking the staff of Acme Press Ltd., who patiently and constructively printed the paper. Many times the men at "Acme" would put other material aside so that the school paper might appear at Vic High on schedule.

Other students without whose aid the paper would never have achieved success include: Gordon Inglis, feature editor; Gordon McLean, news ed.; Val Brown and Al Marks, sports eds., and Mally Page who with Norah Mayne took care of the Social Dept.

Junior Red Cross

This year Victoria High's Junior Red Cross received the large red seal significant of a school enrolled for ten consecutive years with 100% membership. The officers this year were:

PRESIDENT.....	PAT WHAN
VICE-PRESIDENT.....	HUGH CURTIS
SECRETARY.....	INEZ McLEOD
ASSISTANT SECRETARY.....	JO SKINNER
TREASURER.....	SYLVIA WELSH

The year started off with a campaign drive for enrollment and then a "Candy for Britain" drive. Again this year, four girls worked at the D.V.A. Hospital on the Saturdays in December. Candy was donated and packed for the D.V.A. Hospital at Christmas. The Red Cross sold candied apples and pop-corn made by the members at the School Circus held on February 3 and 4.

The Club would like to extend to their sponsor, Miss Turner, their heartfelt appreciation for her helpful guidance.

Jazz Club

This newly formed club has provided its members with many entertaining noon hour sessions throughout the year. Its officers are:

Tom Jones.....	President
John Kucey.....	Vice-President
Margaret Molson.....	Secretary

Music

Music this year, as in previous years, has been a credit to our fair institution. As usual there was a Boys' Glee Club and a Girls' Chorus. The former met every Tuesday and Thursday mornings while the latter consisted mostly of girls with one music period a day together. Both these groups worked willingly along with our talented accompanist, Malcolm Hamilton, under the direction of our hard working music teacher, Miss Norma Douglas. The Girls' Chorus started the year off with an appearance at the Prelim Reception, following which, they appeared with the Boys' Glee Club at the band concert held in our school auditorium. Next on the list of presentations came the Christmas Sing at Metropolitan United Church at which many other school choirs were also present. After the Circus, in the new year, work was commenced on the annual Spring Concert, which was a great success. A few of the year's outstanding vocalists were: Marguerite Lloyd, Margaret Macdonald, Rosalie Harris, Bob Toews and Hugh Curtis.

Orchestra

The orchestra this year is composed of fourteen players, conducted by Miss Douglas. They have played all types of music from popular to "Themes from the Piano Concerto No. 1 by Tschaikowsky." With a larger string section, they hope to give a good account of themselves in the forthcoming Musical Festival. The violinists were instructed by Miss Dorothy Francis, the brass and woodwinds by Mr. R. E. Grant. Members are: Violins—Bernard Rain (concert master), Daryl Logan, Jean McGinnis; 'Cello—Sylvia Gough; Piano—Lorraine Brand; Flute and Piccolo—George Lynn; Trumpets—Vanetia Tait, Cliff Haslam; French Horn—Stan Sage; Trombone—Bill Fry; Clarinets—Bob Nichol, Russ Gurney; Drums—Bill Sturrock, Gordon Moore.

Girls' Hi-Y

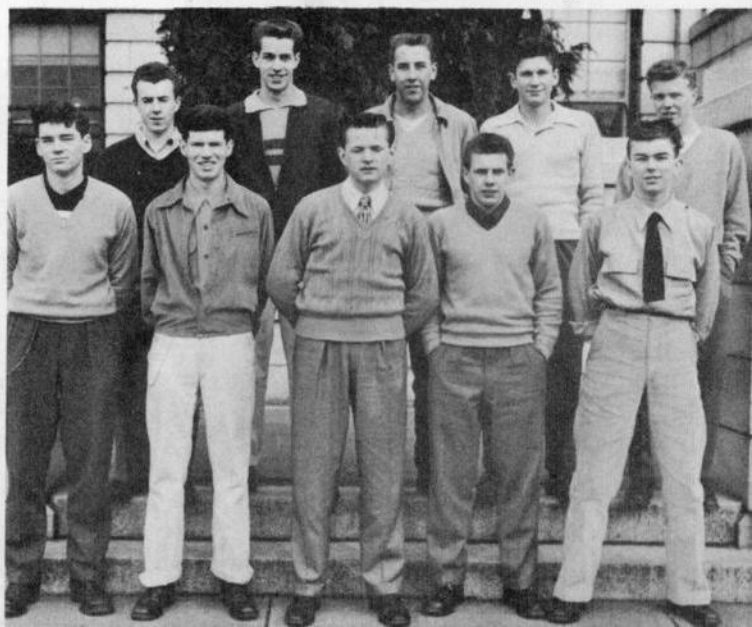

Under the capable leadership of their sponsors, the six Hi-Y clubs this year drew up a constitution and formed a Co-ordinating Executive. This executive consisted of presidents and vice-presidents of the individual clubs, who met before every club meeting, thereby enabling all clubs to work together smoothly. The Hi-Y, besides ushering and serving at numerous functions, has helped raise money and clothing for UNICEF, and sponsored a candy stall in the Circus. V.H.S. sent seventeen representatives to the Annual Girls' Hi-Y Conference held this year in Vancouver. In co-ordination with the Boys' Hi-Y Council, a dance was sponsored at the Y.M.C.A. on March 17. The annual Hi-Y Co-ed, sponsored jointly by the six clubs, took place on May 19 this year.

The Girls' Hi-Y would like to voice their appreciation to the executives, for their leadership, to the teachers, for their co-operation, and to the sponsors for their splendid help.

Boys' Hi-Y

Under the guidance of Mr. L. Wallace and Mr. S. Murphy, the Boys' Hi-Y clubs, Alpha and Beta, rendered another successful year of service to the school. Alpha, under the leadership of Don Hendry, again sponsored the Amateur shows and also presented a time-clock for the gymnasium. Beta, ably directed by Fred Graves, sponsored a movie picture, from which the proceeds were turned over to UNICEF. Beta also gained fame by selling pop at the Friday night basketball games. The two clubs alternated in running a concession stand at the school dances throughout the year. The climax to a successful year was realized in the International Hi-Y Conference at Everett, Washington, which reps. from both clubs attended.

★ Drama ★

. By the time that two-thirty had rolled around, everyone was just a little bit weary and needed a small pickup. Dr. Mayne prescribed drama. The patients were wheeled into Room 20 and the operation began. Agonizing screams of dramatic deaths were heard, and strange sights fell into the hallway.

Seriously, the drama course was a lot of fun. The class worked hard and managed to produce a very successful show for the Circus, as well as several small plays, presented in assembly periods.

On April 21 and 22, "Meet Me in St. Louis" was presented. Rehearsals were long and tedious, but we all agreed that it was well worth the hard work. Cast included June O'Neil, Bob Toews, Hugh Curtis, Eric Bent, Jean Webster, Hilda Colebourne, Marguerite Lloyd, Rosemary Leason, Dorothy Luetkehoelter, Gloria Gallop, Owen Erwin, Neville Huson, Ann Armstrong, Joyce Roome, Rita Price, Bruce McLeod, Don Matheson and Diana Ricardo.

Mr. Mayne also organized a Players Club from the Grade Nines and Tens. Presided over by Bill Sturrock, with Belle Luscombe as secretary, this club read and prepared short plays for the auditorium. The purpose of the club was to stimulate interest in drama among the junior students.

All in all, everyone profited, and we are grateful for the help so generously given by Mr. Mayne.

★ French Club

Under the supervision of the French teachers, a French club, known as "Le Cercle Francais," was organized in the school this year. The weekly meetings of the club have greatly aided its members by giving them practice in French conversation. The executive consists of Malcolm Hamilton, president, and Verla Johnston, secretary. The year was climaxed by a presentation by the members of the club, of five French skits to an auditorium of French students.

★ Calamity Players

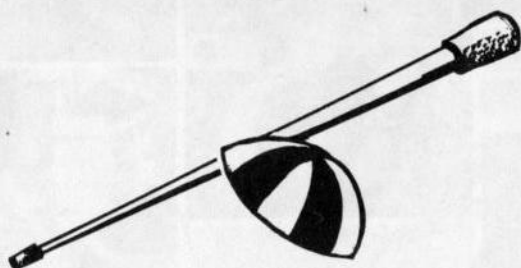

Providing noon-hour entertainment for the high school students fell on the shoulders of many people throughout the year. One of the groups making an attempt was the Calamity Players who periodically put on Pep-Meets in the Auditorium. Their shows ranged from superior to mediocre depending on the mood of the "Players" and size of the audience. Aspiring actors included in most productions were Jeanne Elliot, Nancy Anders, June O'Neil, Diana Ricardo, Don Matheson, Gordon Inglis, Bob Toews and Hugh Curtis. In spite of much confusion, the "Players" did put zip into a few noon-hours during the year.

Majorettes

Under the able sponsorship of Miss McKee the Majorettes again this year dazzled the school with their intricate displays. In their trim red and white uniforms they drew all eyes as they stepped smartly out on the gym floor to the beat of Bill Sturrock's drum. Basketball games just wouldn't be complete without this group of hard-working girls, for they have become a necessary part of our school activities. Members from last year include: Pat Pottinger (captain), Shirley Heinrichs, Jacquie Hudson, Jeanette Crowther, Joan Heryet and Doreen Knepp. New members are: Barbara Chung, Hazel Lum, Olga Leschuck and Betty-Jean Boulton.

Dance Team

Completing a second successful year, our relatively new V.H.S. Dance Team is fast becoming a permanent high school activity. Under Miss Sheila Stanley's capable direction the group performed in a colourful "Holiday in Havana" number at the Spring Concert last March. They also displayed their precision waltzing in the floorshow of the Starlight Prom in December. Team members include: Marjorie Bath, Gwen Conarroe, Donna Ludlow, June O'Neil, Rita Price, Margaret Pugh, Brian Ainscough, Jim Mooney, Gary Richardson, Bob Toews, Brian Vint and Bill Worthy. These students did a creditable job, leaving a high reputation for future Dance Teams to uphold.

DICK PRETTE: Forward, and was a great asset to the team until forced out by an injury.

Senior Representative Soccer

Due to inclement weather conditions, there was no Inter-High Soccer League this year.

Colonist Cup

After a year's absence, the Colonist Cup, emblematic of Inter-High School soccer supremacy, returned to Victoria High. This year's edition of the team was unbeaten in seven games. These included wins over Oak Bay, Mt. Douglas, Esquimalt and Mount View in the Round Robin series and an exhibition win over Mount Newton. In the Colonist Cup final against Oak Bay the powerful eleven led by Captain Ced Robb easily took the best of three series in straight games.

Junior Rugby

Although neither team won the Junior Rugby title, both the Reds and the Greens had a good season from the standpoint of experience. At the beginning of the year very few knew much about the game. However, under the expert guidance of Mr. Wallis and the sponsorship of Messrs. Hunter and Parnall, both teams improved as they began to play together.

The Reds, by defeating the Greens in league play, seemed to be the virtual winners, but they were forced out by Oak Bay.

The Greens, fighting an uphill battle, bowed out of the race for honors when they were defeated by the Reds and then held to a draw by the powerful Oak Bay squad in the final game.

Volleyball

The four volleyball leagues functioned as usual at Vic. High this year with a good amount of enthusiasm shown by both the participants and the spectators. In the Senior Boys' section of the noon hour pastime, House II captured the laurels in Junior Boys, House IV; in Senior Girls, House I; and in Junior Girls, House IV. In the annual Students' Council vs. Staff series, the students again emerged victorious.

Rep. Basketball

This year's Totems combined experience with speed and shooting accuracy to become one of the best teams produced by Vic High in the last few years. Entering in the City League, they finished first in league play, but were forced out of the finals by the Elks. They also captured the interscholastic title going undefeated in play against Royal Roads, Victoria College and Victoria Normal School. In two close games with Neah Bay High School the Americans emerged victorious after displaying a little more shooting wizardry than our team. In the annual game with Kitsilano High, Victoria continued its mastery over the Vancouver squad. In a game against Vancouver, last year's provincial champs, the Reps won handily. Topping off a very successful basketball season was a provincial tournament at New Westminster.

Inter-High Senior Basketball

Led by four Vic High Reps, House IV's Senior Inter High basketball team was unbeaten in nine games of League Play, finishing at the top of the standings. The other three Vic High teams all fared well in the fast ten-team league.

HOUSE IV LINE-UP: Rowe, Wollett, Zarry, Robb, Wong, Sam, Robertson, Whan, Shields.

Junior Basketball

Vic High's two entries in the Junior Inter-High Basketball fared quite well in league play. The Reds (Houses I and II) won the title after a hectic two-game total point series with the Golds. The two teams finished in a tie for first place with Central Junior High. The Golds easily disposed of Central, but ran into too much competition in the final.

REDS: Bob Abbott, Bill Hampton, Al Davies, Norm Forbes, Bill Abbott, Gerry Burton, Len Anderson, Pete Kirchner, Don Donahue.

Rep. Basketball

DON HENDRY: Guard and Captain, Sugar's quick thinking kept the team well organized at all times.

GERRY PARKER: Forward or Guard, Vice-Captain. Gerry is a cool driving player who is an expert shot with either hand.

BILL GARNER: Center. Bill's spirited play and deadly hook shots won more than one game for the Totems.

RALPH HUDSON: Guard or Forward. Buzz was a standout this year with his deceptive ball handling and accurate one-handers.

BOB ROWE: Forward. Bob was the team's leading scorer who always came through when it counted.

CED ROBB: Forward. Ced was the fastest man on the team and always played a clean aggressive game.

ARCHIE MacINTOSH: Forward or Guard. Arch could always be depended upon to play a sound game of basketball.

LORNE OAKLEY: Guard. "Oaks" with his long one handers was the most improved player on the team.

GEORGE WOOLLETT: Center. "Jo" possesses an uncanny ability for setting up plays and putting in rebounds.

PETE ZARRY: Forward. "Boris" is always dangerous on the attack and steady on the defence.

NORM FORBES: Guard. Norm's shooting style and drive makes him hard to stop in any game.

BILL HAMPTON: "Hamp" was the only Grade 10 member of the team and should be one of next year's top men.

MR. WALLACE: This year's top flight team is the product of Mr. Wallace's effective system of player development.

MR. HARTLEY: No small amount of credit goes to Mr. Hartley for the condition in which he kept the players all through the basketball season.

House Hockey

Many enthusiasts turned out for House Hockey this year. Interest was keen and there were some closely contested games. The playing was good and there should be some future "reps" among these players. House I was the winner with House IV second and House III third.

Blacks and Golds

Under the coaching of Miss Sutton and Miss Tubbs, Vic High entered two excellent teams in this year's Fall Tournament. In the Round-Robin series, the Blacks tied for first and the Golds finished third. The Blacks and Oak Bay shared the May Tully Shield in the final play-offs. Both teams went to Vancouver to compete against Mainland teams and although losing their games, the players all agreed that it was fun. Team members are as follows:

GOLDS: Jo Fullerton (captain), Phyl Sinnamon, Joan Easter, Marlene Vance, Irene Overy, Skippy Morris, Pat Sinclair, Gurdip Dillon, Mary Wilson, Louise Heal, Gayle Calder, Monica MacKenzie, and Nancy Anders. Manager, Laurel Young.

BLACKS: Phyllis Cockburn, Georgina Lowe, Jacquie Hudson, Beb. Fulton, Jaget Basi, Patsy Wright, Stephanie Scott, Irene Sande, Diane Heaney.

Junior Basketball

Vic High entered two teams in this year's league, the Blacks and the Nuggets. Both teams finished near the top of the standings and showed many outstanding players such as: Chris Boyd, Vera Hutton, Cynthia Derr, Pat Wright and Gerry Koski, who should prove the nuclei of next year's senior teams. Line-ups were:

BLACKS: Chris Boyd, Catherine MacDonald, Terry Bombardier, Margo Wells, Joane Heinrichs, Ann Sprinkling, Pat Wright, Kay Morrish, Shirley Pierce and Ann McPherson.

GOLDS: Vera Hutton, Mona Gee, Cynthia Derr, Betty Lim, Jean Myers, Barbara Oliphant, Bev. Koski, Leanne Stephens, Louella Kalk, and Shirley Waring.

Rep. Basketball

DIANE HEANEY: An energetic senior who has been an asset to the team.

FLORENCE PICKERING: Flo came to us from Sask. and should prove to be the mainstay of the guard line-up next year.

JOAN WHITTEN: As a four-year member of the rep. team, Joan shines in either forward or guard position.

HEATHER MacGILLIVRAY: The former manager who has taken over one of the guard positions.

PHYLLIS COCKBURN: A high-scoring forward or a close-checking guard, Phyll has been one of our faithful reps. for four years.

PAT MASON: Captain of the team, Pat is the flashy forward and high scorer who has sparked the team to many a win in the last four years.

GERRY KOSKI: Gerry is a junior who should prove a high scoring forward on the team next year.

PATSY WRIGHT: This fast moving forward is going to be hard to keep track of in the next couple of years.

GEORGINA LOWE: George is a hard working guard, well known for her daring long shots.

JACQUIE HUDSON: This quick moving, sharp shooting guard has been a valuable member of the reps for four years.

MARY WILLIAMS: Mary joined the team this year and is one of the hardest working guards on the floor.

Cross Country

The cross-country team, composed of Hedley Sampson, Phil Taylor, Geoffrey Conway, Willie Belobaba, Ian Glenday, Gerry Kenney, Ross McKendry, Jim Kennett, Jack Lawrence, Peter Kirchner, Al Buchan, Don Pimlott and Ted Whan, has done very well this year. Coached by Mr. Hartley, the team has entered three races. The first, against Oak Bay High, was handily won by our squad. The second race was the annual Royal Roads four-mile invitational cross-country run. Six teams entered and V.H.S. placed fourth, one point behind Victoria College. The last one in which our squad competed was the University School four and one-half mile road race. The Oak Bay High team won the race on points, even though Hedley Sampson of V.H.S. came first. Our school placed second, six points behind the winner. All members will be back again next year, and the team is expected to be even better then.

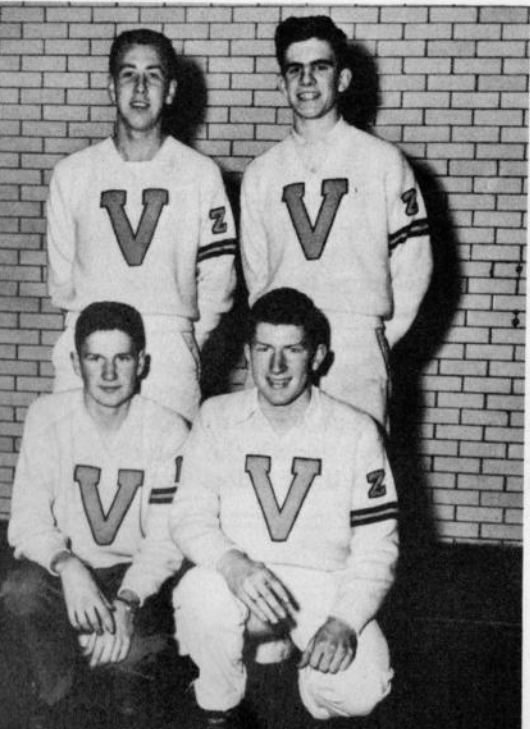

★ Boxing

Boxing this year has met with great success not only on the part of the participants but also on the part of the student body as a whole. The Boxing Club, under Mr. Hartley's guidance, met each Friday afternoon to carry on sparring and receive instruction in "the manly art." The boys saw action as added attraction on Friday evening basketball cards and the usual school tournament was run off in the spring. Prominent school pugilists include Bob Blake, Griffie Layne, Archie Silars, Dave Riddell and Doug Bambrough.

Big Block Club

One of the new clubs that appeared at the school this year was the Boys' Big Block Club. Its members were all the boys in Grades XI and XII who had earned big V's in athletics. The club insignia was a white sweater with a yellow V on the front. Its executive was composed of: Alan Blair, president; Don Hendry, vice-president; Buzz Hudson, secretary, and Bill Garner, treasurer.

Badminton

Senior badminton was in the limelight this year with much stiff competition in all tournament events. The highlight of the season was an inter-city tournament with Duncan on March 17. Although the juniors were left out of the tournament and had a few playing days taken from them, they enjoyed lively competition. Capable club officials under the sponsorship of Mr. T. Mayne were: President, Joan Whitten; vice-president, June Orchard; treasurer, Georgina Lowe.

Cheer Leaders

This year's cheer-leading team has all the life and pep in the world. They have followed the sports as closely as possible and endeavoured to please everyone. They would like to thank everyone for the swell support given them.

CHEER LEADERS: Val Brown, June O'Neil, Joie Fullerton, Ted Curtis, Joe Custock and Graham Cox, Manager.

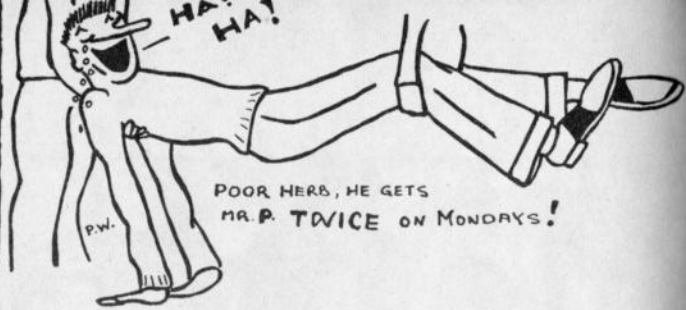

Table Tennis

Table tennis got off to a poor start this year with very little equipment and enthusiasm, but the club managed to scrape through the season. Members of this club also took part in the Duncan tournament on March 17. Club officers under the sponsorship of Mr. V. Thompson were: President, June Orchard; vice-president, Archie MacIntosh; treasurer, Heather MacGillivray.

Grade Eleven . . .

Under the competent guidance of our class president, Barbara Chung, we, Division 9, have succeeded in the following improvements: Ron Bird (vice-pres.) arrives at Glee Club practices on time; Jim Cowie never fails to get his Virgil translation done in Math. period; our council rep. Phil Taylor has finally succeeded in scoring two out of three baskets with the aid of a paper wad and an ink-well. We also have slated for the honour roll such brilliant students as Ruth Foort, Glyn Jones, Alice Hong and Jean Webster. Ruling over us is Miss Sargent, who can't live with or without us.

S.S. Div. 10, under Admiral Hardie, is capably manned by Skipper Doug Perlette, Mate Allan Mercer, Stewardess Bev Eng and Purser Dick Tripp. Lillian Mar and George Essihos take care of the Red Cross Station. With witty Harold Gregg, skating enthusiasts Bev Smith and Lorraine Brown, badminton whiz Tom Harris, and brainy Bill Broadley in our crew, our ship is one of the finest in the fleet.

Division 11 perches in Room 2, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Hodson. The barnyard officials are pres., Barrie Houston; vice-pres., Barry Caviness, and sec.-treas., Marilyn Richards. In the scholastic section we are well represented by Doris Gray, Lillian Marshall, Delores Lavoie, Ken Barker, Ray Buckett and Lyle Robertson. Our class also boasts three "Big-V-Men": Gary Pynn, Quinton Mar and Barry Caviness. We also have quite a few "cute chicks" sitting on our barnyard fence.

Registering with Miss Van Engel in Div. 12 is a great variety of personalities. Presided over by Allison Hill, they range from the five class devils: Jackie Quest, Maureen Jenkins, Mary-Lou Findler, Sheila Warren and Ina Robertson, through our class athletes: Ray Jubb, Lorne Oakley and Norm Forbes, to our genius, Gloria Bennet.

Division 13, an all boy technical class, registers with Mr. Hartley. Class president is George Henn, Red Cross Reps, Charles Putman and Allan Moore, and Students' Council Rep. Ron Shea. Those who rate mention in sports are John Merriman (golf), George Henn and Archie Sillars (boxing), and Charles Putman (hockey). As for humour, there is definitely no shortage of it here.

The "Big Three" presiding over the "K.P.'s of 50" are Ernie "Queenie" Unwin, president and Council Rep. Bruce Baird, vice-president and Inspector General of Sinks; and Jim Thompson, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Miniature draft board and registrar is Mr. Wallace. Characters of Div. 14 include Milt Creasey, champ; Pete Zarry, gather around girls; Brian Hickman, man of words, and Bruce "out in front" Arnold.

Division 15 registers with Mr. McLagan. Betty Boulton is in the majorettes, Gloria Leong and Shirley Saggars supply the brains, Dot Stokes, Erla Hughes, and Peggy Sinclair are on the hockey teams, while June Kelly and Anne Buckle are in Hi-Y. Ron Mooney (class president) and Bob Clarke (Red Cross Rep.) are members of the rugby team. Alvin Chehaywich represents us at the Council meetings.

Div. 16 registers with Mr. Trotter, who is an all round good guy. The class executive are: Doreen Knepp, pres.; Barbara Jones, vice-pres.; and sec., Red Cross Rep., Willie Belobaba.

Our star athletes are Pat MacRae and Alice Rubenok while glamour is added by Myrna Vater and Dot Jones. Our little joker is Monica McKenzie.

Div. 17 consists of all females. Marj. Howard is our keen president, and Olga Leschuk helps by attending a few of the council meetings. Jean Porter proves to be quite industrious as a Red Cross leader, and Miss Sutton is our swell teacher.

Grade Ten . . .

Division 18 is proud to have Mr. Mayne as home room teacher. John Bailey is class president and Don Crabb is secretary. Jacky Baker and Len Anderson have proven themselves good sportsmen. Art Anderson helps add to our happy environment along with slap-happy Bill Abbot and Doug Bambrough.

Division 19 (Mule Train) unloads at Mr. Hunter's, room 25. Don Sword, president; Jack Garner, vice-president; Barbara Cross, secretary, and Pat Cameron and Gerry Koski, Red Cross Reps., help keep order. Our talent is evenly distributed. Athletics: Viola Yetman, Jean Myers, Barbara Richardson, Margo Wells. Music: Anne Firth, Russ Bell. Humour: Isabel Goodwin, Sylvia Zaferis, Sandy Lawrence. Brains: Sandra Jones, June Lamont.

Division 20, registering with Miss Cox, is a quiet chalk throwing class. Our president, "Lover Boy" Mendum, is helped by our "efficient" YUK secretary Al Buchan. Our Red Cross Reps. are Pat Wright and Leon Goudal. We also have such sport stars as Barry Mills, Fuz Glenday, Al Buchan, Pat Wright, Shirley Waring and Ann McPherson.

Division 21 is governed by Mr. Parnall. We are represented at Council meetings by Bill Sturrock and at Red Cross meetings by Pete Kirchner and Esther Mensen. A good assortment of sportsmen are here: the Mensen sisters in swimming; Ernie Calverly in boxing; Pete Kirchner and Bill Hampton in basketball and Juanita Morris in grass hockey. Last but not least is our greatest claim to fame—a pencil sharpener.

Division 22 is a happy?? all-girls' class registering with Mr. Cumberburch. Shirley Allen presides over us while Joan Simpson represents us at Council meetings. Red Cross Reps. are Marina Fatt and Anne Pomeroy. Our brains are the majority of the class (no conceit here!). Sports notables are Marlene Vance, Jean Easter and Joan Heinrichs. Personalities are Evelyn Donnelly, Elaine Thomas and Joan Long.

Mr. Chatfield registers Division 23, a group of eight girls and twenty-five boys. Shirley Henn, our secretary, assists president Betty Bowcott, while Jim Kennett and Darline Watts are our Red Cross Representatives. In sports we have Barry Jenner and Ron Lou Poy; in the brains department, George Price; for wit we depend upon Ted Sucker. In personalities there are Patric Moon, Lila Hansen, Joan Houghton and Virginia Moffet.

We are Div. 24—Mr. Murphy's all-boy Technical Class. You must know those bright lads who have to be here at 8:15 a.m.

Some of the personalities in the class are Dick Dickinson, class pres.; Hamish Duncan, Red Cross and Students' Council Rep.; Gerry Bilou, the class joker and Court Magician; Ted Whan, the "great lover"; and Hubert Richards whose loud guffaws keep us amused.

Mr. Marrion registers Division 25, an all-boy technical class. The boys are divided into two courses, Vocational Arts and Industrial Arts, which have been formed recently. The class president is Ron Wells; secretary, Larry Pearce, and Red Cross Rep., Art Fletcher.

With the help of Mr. Thompson, Div. 26 is steered by hardworking Pres. George Draper, Council Rep. Stan Johnson and Red Cross Rep. Cyril McCauley. Denis Coverdale takes care of all clowning and Gerry Collinson mystifies us all with his little Ford car—car??

Under the expert guidance of Div. 27's registration teacher, Mrs. Cameron, our Students' Council Representative, Betty Kowalchuk, and our Red Cross Representative Belle Luscombe, have done excellent work throughout the school year. Thanks kids!

Division 28, Miss Maxwell's all-girl commercial class, with Chris Boyd as president, and Marion Bowles her assistant, is really a snappy division. We have star basketball players Pat Blair, Cynthia Der and Chris Boyd; poster artists Irene Fuggle and Barbara Byers; Red Cross Reps. Mona Gee and Irene Fuggle who have collected a most impressive amount for the Junior society.

Miss Irvine stands at the head of Division 29, an all-girl class, which has for its capable president and Council Rep. Kathleen Walton. The Red Cross Representatives are Roberta Wong and Sally Howe. To brighten up our days we have the witty remarks of such characters as Maureen Smith and Maureen Schoular.

Grade Nine . . .

Division 30, registering with Miss Cowan, has an able president, Jerry Irving, assisted by Vice-President Juanita Campbell. Gordon Moore, secretary-treasurer, is one of the many musically minded students of the class. We are represented at Red Cross meetings by Noreen Wheeler and Peter Jackman. Shirley Tribe, Walter Brown and Arthur Evans supervised the sending of a parcel to a family in Europe. All in all, we think our Div. has done its part in supporting all school activities, drives, etc., since the beginning of the year.

Division 31 has an unusual assortment of homosapiens under the wing of Mrs. De la Mare. Our class president is Bev Koski; secretary-treasurer, attractive Heather Scott; Red Cross Rep., Bob Abbott. Glamour is supplied by Sheila Hardie; intellect: Beven Horton and Lorraine Brand; sports: Ann Sprinkling, Pat Sinclair, Irene Ovary and Gayle Calder; and humour: Mary Carley and Phyllis Humberstone.

For the past year, Div. 32, registering in Room 29, has been critically observing Vic High. "Nice school," say some, "nice teachers," say others; "nice kids," say most, and we all agree on that. Our registration teacher, Mr. Cook, proved a real friend to the poor confused prelims. Grades 11 and 12 have been exceedingly patient with us and we certainly appreciate it. Our class pres. is Yinnie Lim, Red Cross Reps. are Louella Kalk (star basketballer) and Barbara Graves. Mel Carlew (the brain) is Council Rep. Last but not least are Joan Hutchinson and Jim Moore, Camosunet Reps. Congratulations kids, you did a good job.

Division 33, our all-girl div., registering with Miss Tervo, features Dot Wilmott, fatal fascination; Anna Mouat, recently from the Stampede City, and Elveyne Heal, our brain-wave. Our executive consists of Jo Leason, president; Sue Harrison, secretary, and Ruth Timnick and Joy Russell, Red Cross Reps.

This year Div. 34 is an all-girl class with Miss Turner as home room teacher. We take a Commercial course with half the class carrying an Art option and the other half Music. Our class officers are: First Term—President, Yvonne Pedneault; secretary, Diana Cook; Red Cross Reps., Sylvia Erb and Janet Gibbons. Second Term—President, Florence Scott; secretary, Betty Lim; Red Cross Reps., Amy Carter and Joan Bowes. Council Rep. for the year is Margaret Warriner.

Among our bright lights are Mary Creed, Charlane Hammon and Margaret Warriner. In sports we have Betty Lim, Leona Worth and Diana Cook, while in Home Ec., Florence Scott and Cynthia and Gumbia Fong do exceptionally well.

Though Division 35 is made up entirely of girls, it doesn't make a bit of difference to us. We all tried our best to participate in school activities. Vera Hutton, our cute pres.; Barbara Hill, sec., and Leanne Stephens, Council Rep., kept us rolling throughout the year.

Reflection

The moon has risen o'er the towering hill
And all around has cast its silvery light.
The woods are silent, all save for the trill
Of some small bird, a-crying in the night.

And as I sit here 'neath the darkened sky
I can but wonder why one such as me
Should be so blessed by Him, who up on high Keeps watch o'er men far better than I be.

He loveth all, I know, but how can one
So insignificant, so weak, so small,

Second Prize Poem

Such sinful flesh, deserve the love of Him?
Why does He bother with my kind at all?

The stately trees, the towering hill, the rocks
Were made by Him, each perfect in its place.
But why am I a member of His flocks?
And how am I deserving of His grace?

A challenge now I give to every man—
To think about these thoughts 'ere life flits by;
To serve your God in every way you can
That you may go unto Him when you die.

Dilemma of Dangerous Don

A bunch of the boys were whooping it up in the corner coffee shop,
The kids were playing the old juke box, the tune was Bing's "Rag Mop."
Back in a booth, with a half-smoked weed,
sat Delinquent Don O'Drew,
And watching the gang was his steady gal,
the co-ed that's known as Sue.

When out of the smog, which was thick as your fist, and into the noise and light (?)
There stumbled a man fresh out from the school, suspicious and ready for fight.
He looked like a guy on the teaching staff,
clean shaven and hatless too,
There was none could place the stranger's face, though they searched in vain for a clue.

With a mighty roar he strode toward the back, his eye on Delinquent Don;
He ranted and raved, he shouted and stamped, oh my, how he carried on!
A whole month's detention, you erring matrics; I'll teach you to flaunt our noon rule,
And Don, for two months, you will clean paper from the playing fields round the whole school.

His statement met with a stony response, like a courtroom sentence of doom;
With a satisfied look, he turned on his heel,
and strode briskly out of the room.
Now every night when classes are out,
Delinquent Don may be seen
With a basket behind him, he works very hard to keep all the school grounds so clean.

The rest of the kids are kept writing lines;
two hundred the minimum sum,
To escape from their fate, they patiently wait for the dot of six-thirty to come.
Those were the simple facts of the case, but don't ask me how I know
For I was there that September day, I'm the co-ed that's known as Sue.

First Prize Short Story

BEDLAM

He strode confidently, one might even say jauntily, down the narrow, twisting steps, but ever in the back of his mind there flickered the dim, wavering flame of uncertainty. He had heard stories of these places, haunting stories told in equally haunting whispers.

This, he told himself, was sheer nonsense—he would never have been sent here if there were any danger. But as he descended farther and farther and lower and lower from the comforting hustle and bustle of city streets, a sort of hesitant hesitancy overwhelmed him and he had to resist the urge to turn and rush helter-skelter back up those long, twisting stairs to the familiar confusion of civilization.

And then, as he pushed against the huge, heavy, revolving door, there broke upon his ear, like the ruthless pounding of surf upon a rocky shore, an ominous roar which heightened, as he was pushed ever forward by that relentless door, to a horrifying, high-pitched hysteria of sound.

He felt himself caught unwillingly up into that swirling, surging sea of humanity that swept in and out and around about, some brandishing their ill-gotten loot and others searching vainly with greedy hands for something which always seemed just a little beyond their grasp.

He stood a little apart now from the mad mob and a terrifying feeling of panic arose in his breast, arose and engulfed him until all his befuddled brain could think of was escape.

Escape! Escape! Escape! The urgent message pounded in his tortured mind and so he began his mad flight. Fighting manfully against the flowing human current that tossed him hither and thither, he finally gained that huge, heavy, mocking door which now, still contrary to his wishes, refused to move. He pushed and panted and struggled and strained and then finally the door yielded and he found himself once again facing those steep, twisting steps, which now looked friendly instead of formidable.

He staggered drunkenly, crazily up the steps, and then at the top, paused and stared, eyes gleaming wildly, at a sign which hung there. Snatching out a pencil he scribbled the word "Bedlam" across the bold little sign which had once briefly stated "Bargain Basement."

THE SEA GULL

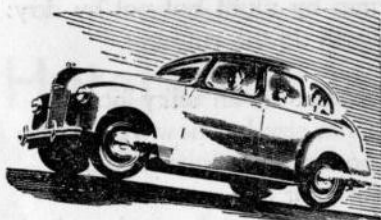

Free as the very wind that cries,
Foam white against the harsh blue skies,
Free as the very sea that rolls,
O'er rocks and shores and cliffs and knolls,
The sea gull

Bright as a silv'ry beam of light
Drifts from the moon in the starry night,
Light as the misty veil of dawn
Lingers o'er earth when day is drawn.

A Mouse Tail (Tale)

Little beast, so wondrous wise,
Spindly legs, and beady eyes,
You who taste our lunches
In the lockers cross the floor,
Singly first, then more and more,
Soon you'll count in bunches,

We who are considered flirts,
We who must wear longer skirts,
Dread your constant coming.
Keep your distance, hide away,
Scamp by night but not by day;
We will do the running.

Little beast, with silky hair,
Small in size but how you scare
Us poor girls in science class:
Make your exit, get outside
Or we'll hear a mouse has died
From a dose of lethal gas.

Classes of the Day . . .

Being a member of thirty-one,
The day has now begun.
The fireworks start with Mr. Cook,
In always fumbling with a book.
Then down to Room 2, I goes,
At me Miss Smith's temper blows.
From there I go to have francais,
Fireworks explode third time today.
A dress design I draw at Art,
From there I get an early start.
Now my stomach starts to rumble,
For my lunch do I ever grumble.

The lunch hour is now over,
I am no more a joyful rover.
From registration I must hustle,
To hear Miss Stanley talk about muscle.
Upstairs to English I must stumble,
I am up to my neck in trouble.
In Social I get quite a lift,
Afraid to be sent to Mr. Smith.
After school, detentions come,
But I'm going in the gymnasium.
From there I go, my bus to catch,
I arrive home at 5, natch.

Lament of a Junior Edition

I'm a grow'd girl now, though not so tall.
Could someone please explain to me how
My shabby fate has come about?
I'm so mad and so forlorn,
Why, oh why, was I ever born?
As lowly prelim left out of the fun
I dreamt of the future and my "only one."
When I would whirl off in a cloud of joy
Which envelopes each happy girl and boy.
I dream, I sigh, I mope and I cry: please tell me—
Where is my dreamboat so dashing and tall?
He's dancing with someone who's not so small.

Excuses That Failed . . .

Mr. Wallace: Well, why were you late?
Sleepy: There are eight in our family.
Mr. W.: What's that got to do with it?
Sleepy: The alarm was set for seven.

Teacher: Late again! How's that?
Dimwit: I got up late, and only left myself ten minutes to dress in.
Teacher: But I can dress quite comfortably in ten minutes.
Dimwit: Yes, but I wash.

THE DREAM

I had a dream, in which with you
I walked one morning grey and chill
Upon a desert, dusty, dry,
Unclothed with grass, uncrossed by rill.

The sun comes up, and swift my dream
Flies to a meadow, where the kine
Contented drowse; and tinkling stream
Mingles its beauteous voice with thine.

The sun is warm, the sky is clear
As now we wander through this wood.

And short we pause, and silent, hear
The sounds St. Francis understood.

The darkness comes and we draw near,
A-couching in some quiet dell
And silent dream, until aroused
By tolling of the curfew bell.

The dream is gone, and all around
The darkness reigns, and through the gloom
The clock doth chime, no other sound
Disturbs me, waking in my room.

Little Miss Placid was pouring some acid
In Chemistry Lab. one day,
When a freakish explosion caused painful corrosion
And ate her complexion away.

Mr. W.: Now, Inglis, how many times have I told you to get to school on time?

Inglis: I don't know, sir; I thought you were keeping score.

FIVE BY FOUR

A large sheet of paper, five by four,
Will show you the world, and even more.
You can see China, Italy and Greece,
And Japan, Canada, Turkey, and Nice.

You can travel to Capistrano, and see the swallows;

You can go to India, where the buffalo
wallows.

The world is large, but on this it is small,
You can find the seasons, summer and fall;
And so all you people, don't take a nap,
Look up on the wall, and you'll see a map.
